Subject: AOL and Curriculum Committee

Sampath and I met today and had a detailed conversation regarding AOL and Curriculum Committee.

We discussed the following:

1. It will be beneficial to have a following matrix prepared for the course offered in our school. Perhaps Kelly or someone else can help us in preparing the same with the help of individual faculty members (pl see the sample matrix below).
2. It will be beneficial to know the learning objectives (5 or 6) for each of our courses. This will lower down faculty to faculty variation – when two or more faculty are teaching the same core course. Also, when AOL report suggests that a skill is lacking, we would immediately know which courses to start looking at.
3. It will be good to have champion for each of the PLLG. The champion would analyze AOL report and suggest:
 - a. If rubric needs to be modified
 - b. If assignment used to measure PLLG needs to be modified
 - c. If faculty assessing the rubric needs to be trained
 - d. The core course(s) need to be strengthened
 - e. If the faculty-to-faculty variation needs to be lowered

That way if AOL report suggests that a skill is lacking, the champion would then initiate proposals for curriculum committee to consider.
