Subject: Support and Reflection

Like all of you, Georgia and I were horrified and deeply saddened by the mass shootings this weekend in Texas and Ohio. While we stand at a great distance from these tragedies and thus can lend little in direct support, there is, I believe, great value in adding our thoughts and prayers to the collective grief such senseless violence brings. We hope wisdom from our leaders will prevail to reduce the senseless acts of violence plaguing this country. Please join us in sending our most sincere condolences to the families of the victims and to the members of these two communities.

Thank you.
